Henley: Life on the long road

Music » The Eagles' co-frontman answers questions posed by The Salt Lake Tribune.

The Salt Lake Tribune

Don Henley doesn't like the news media.

If you listen to his songs, such as "Dirty Laundry," from his 1982 solo album, that's not much of a surprise. The thing is: Henley, the co-frontman of the Eagles, doesn't need to pander to music critics, because he's part of one of the most popular rock bands of all time. The Eagles' "Their Greatest Hits (1971-1975)" has sold more than 29 million copies and ranks as the best-selling album in American history.

Some of the band's songs from the 1970s — "Hotel California," "Life in the Fast Lane," "Take It Easy," "Tequila Sunrise" and "Lyn' Eyes" — serve as a soundtrack to the era. Just one example of how the Eagles' songs have been woven through pop culture: An entire plotline of "Seinfeld" revolved

ONE FAST-MOVING ENTERPRISE

Review » 'Star Trek' breathes new life into a classic science-fiction title.

By SEAN P. MEANS

The Salt Lake Tribune

Kicking the rust off the good ship Enterprise and a 42-year-old franchise, the 2009 model "Star Trek" is fast, sleek and tightly constructed — a well-made vessel that, for all its upgrades, remains true to the space-faring characters we know and love.

"Star Trek," which captures the epic adventures of the heroic James T. Kirk, cerebral Mr. Spock and the rest, is often called a "classic" of science fiction. But to be a classic, in the Shakespearean sense, the work has to have life beyond the work's original actors. Thankfully, this cast meets that challenge.

As Captain Kirk, Chris Pine won't make you forget the lusty bravado of William Shatner (before he became a self-caricature in Priceline ads and "Boston Legal"), but he brings his own

'Star Trek: The new crew, reviewed

With the latest movie, a new cast of actors takes on the familiar characters. Here's a look at who's running the Enterprise bridge:

Capt. James T. Kirk

Bio » Dynamic leader of men, romancer of women, foiler of no-win scenarios.

Played by (then) » William Shatner

Played by (now) » Chris Pine ("Smokin' Aces," "The Princess Diaries 2")

Mr. Spock

Bio » Cerebral science officer from Vulcan, where logic rules over emotion (usually).

Played by (then) » Leonard Nimoy

Played by (now) » Zachary Quinto (Sylar on "Heroes")

Dr. Leonard McCoy

Bio » Kirk's confidant and Spock's sparring partner, he's a doctor, not a [fill in the blank].

Played by (then) » DeForest Kelley

Played by (now) » Karl Urban ("The Lord of the Rings," "The Bourne Supremacy")

Cmdr. Montgomery Scott ("Scotty")

Bio » Engineering "miracle worker" whose engines will give you all they've got.

Played by (then) » James Doohan

Played by (now) » Simon Pegg ("Shaun of the Dead," "Run Fatboy Run")

Lt. Cmdr. Hikaru Sulu

Bio » A helmsman who's as adept with a fencing foil as a starship's controls.

Played by (then) » George Takei

Played by (now) » John Cho ("Harold & Kumar")

Lt. Uhura

Bio » An expert in alien languages, and the one person on the bridge wearing a miniskirt.

Played by (then) » Nichelle Nichols

Played by (now) » Zoë Saldana ("Vantage Point," "Guess Who")

Ensign Pavel Chekov

Bio » Wunderkind Russian navigator — if only he could pronounce the letter "v."

Played by (then) » Walter Koenig

Played by (now) » Anton Yelchin ("Charlie Bartlett")
